Instructions for Completing the Affidavit of Service

You may file your Affidavit of Service online. Please visit: www.ontario.ca/page/file-small-claims-online.

In a court case, everyone involved must receive the key documents they need. "Serving" documents means giving copies to all the other parties. Generally speaking, this must be done at each step in the case. For example, the plaintiff must serve a copy of the plaintiff's claim form on the defendant. By serving documents, you tell the other parties about the step you are taking. They can then respond if they want to.

Step 1: SERVE the documents. You can serve the documents yourself. You can have a friend or co-w orker do it for you. You can also hire someone, called a process server, to do it. If you have a representative, you can let them look after it. Different documents must be served in different ways. For example, a plaintiff's claim or a defendant's claim cannot be served on an individual by regular lettermail. A plaintiff's claim or a defendant's claim also cannot be served on a person by email, except where authorized by the rules, such as where the person to be served is the Crown in right of Ontario, the Attorney General, the Children's Lawyer or the Public Guardian and Trustee. Check the Small Claims Court "Guide to Procedure in the Small Claims Court - Serving Documents" at court offices or online at www.ontario.ca/page/civil-law-information-and-resources to find out more about service rules. In general, a document can be served any day of the week.

Step 2: COMPLETE the Affidavit of Service. The person who serves the papers must keep careful notes and, if applicable, a record of how they served the documents (for example, the email message to which documents were attached, where documents were served by email). They will have to let the court know who was served and when and how this was done. These facts must be put on the Affidavit of Service. The person who fills out the form must swear or affirm that the facts are true.

NOTE: If you are represented by a law yer or paralegal, the law yer or paralegal may be able to use a Lawyer or Paralegal's Certificate of Service (Form 8B) instead of an Affidavit of Service to prove that a document w as served. Only law yers and paralegals can use a Law yer or Paralegal's Certificate of Service.
